Chef Anton Nunnikhoved

Gourmet Dinner Series

by Mike Yorkey

An epicurean treat is in store for Mammoth gourmands who attend the first "Meet the Winemaker" dinner at the Altitude 9000 restaurant on Tuesday, June 19.

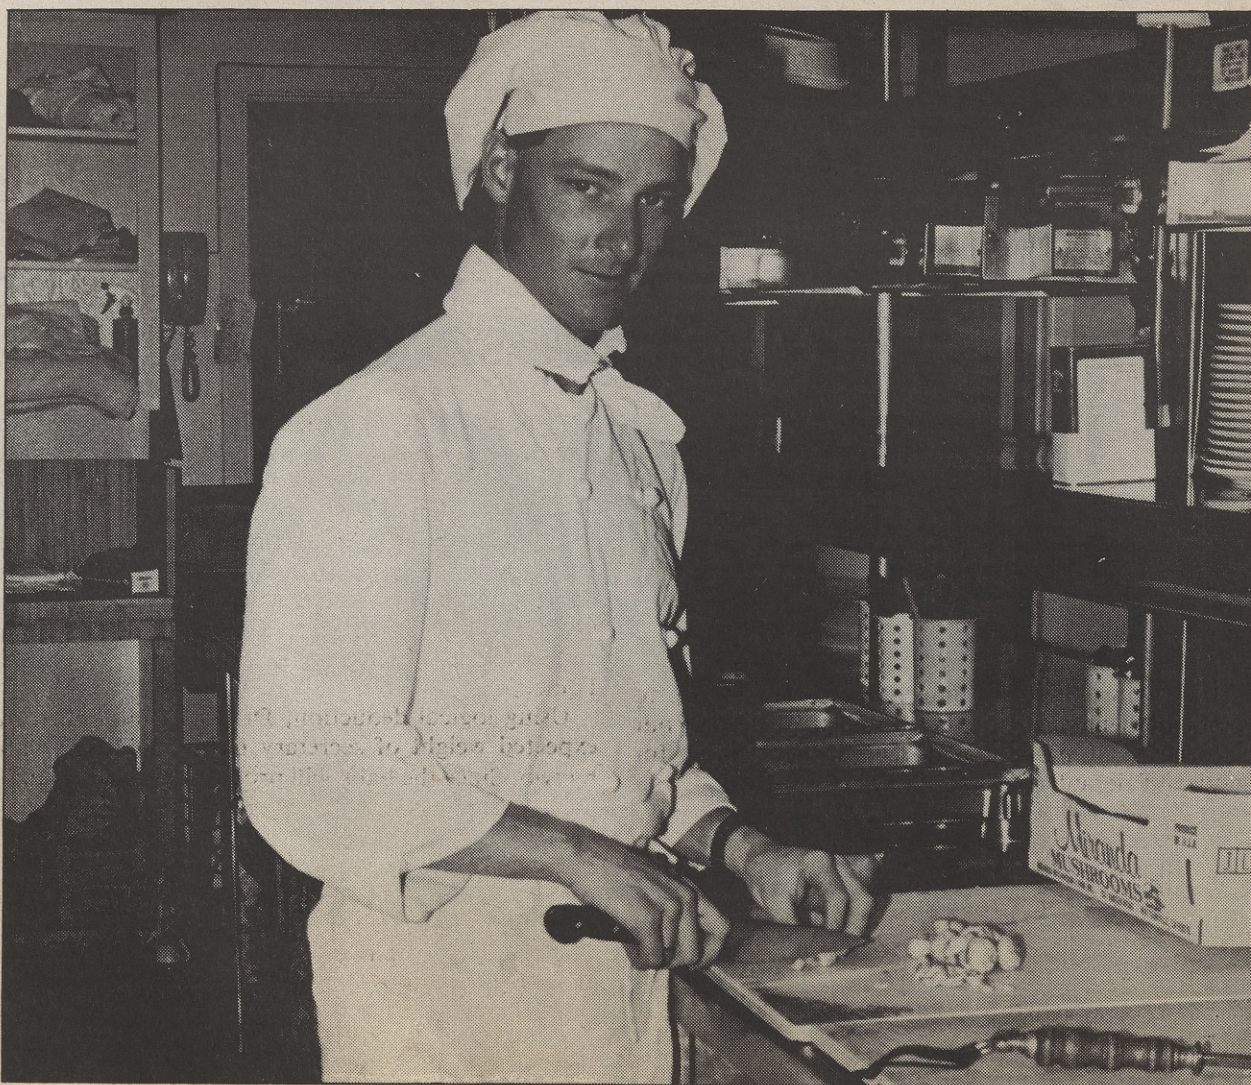

The gourmet dinner series—six during the summer—was cooked up by Mammoth Mountain marketing director Evan Russell, Altitude 9000 manager Ron Smith and executive chef Anton Nunnikhoven.

Nunnikhoven, only 25, was a chef at the luxurious Ahwahnee Hotel on the Yosemite Valley floor. Two years ago, the Ahwahnee began "Meet the Winemaker" dinner series that drew 30 persons to the debut dinner. Now, only two years later, 300 persons come from as far away as Los Angeles for a two-day wine-tasting and eating event.

Nunnikhoven suggested the idea that the Altitude 9000 bring in California wine makers to the restaurant to describe les vins to those attending. A top-notch meal would underscore the virtues of the wines.

The first winemakers to come next week are the representatives of the Acacia and Jordan vineyards. Acacia wines come from the southern end of Napa Valley and Jordan wines are from the Alexander Valley area north of Napa.

A specially selected wine will highlight each course. For the moment, the menu is as follows:

- First course: Duck pate with Grand Marnier; smoked salmon.
- Second course: Cream of asparagus.
- Third course: Poached sea bass.
- Fourth course: Champagne fruit sorbet.
- Main course: Lamb tenderloin with deviled sauce, turned mushrooms, fresh vegetable mold, potato dauphine and fresh spinach flambe.
- Final course: Poached pears with Chambord sauce.

Charged with the responsibility of preparing the gourmet meal is chef Nunnikhoven. The young chef arrived at the Altitude 9000 last November after being "discovered" at the Bishop Creek Lodge by Roma McCoy.

Previously, Anton's high point in his chef's career occurred when he worked under the direction of Chef Marinus De Bruin at the Ahwahnee Hotel for a special dinner for Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Phillip of England. The state dinner was sponsored by Michael Deever, a special adviser to President Reagan.

Manager Ron Smith said the restaurant has room for 50 persons for the dinner, which costs $40 for the meal, wine tasting, tax and tip. Around two-dozen people had signed up for the special meal this week.

Smith said the event is not a "white-glove affair," but everyone is encouraged to dress nicely. Coat and tie are not required.

The restaurant has ordered 400 new wine glasses and more place settings for the summer dinner series, said Smith. The restaurant will be closed to the public during the event next Tuesday, and the seating will be rearranged.

Smith added that Acacia and Jordan wines are two of the most expensive wines on the shelf. "The presentation will be extensive, probably three hours long," said Smith of the evening.

For reservations, one can call the Altitude 9000 at 934-2581.

Question: When we sold our house we took back a second trust deed as part of the purchase price. The buyer has not made any payments for two months. Also, the holder of the first trust deed said that the buyer has not paid them for two months and they are considering foreclosing on the property. We asked them for advice but they said they cannot give legal advice.

Answer: Before you do anything else you should contact your attorney and discuss your alternatives. Here are some of the points you should consider:

- If the first trust deed forecloses, your second can be wiped out. It is very important that you know when the first trust deed holder is going to start foreclosure proceedings. If you file for a request for a copy of any notice of default and sale by the holder of the first trust deed, the holder of the first cannot start a foreclosure action without giving notice to you, the beneficiary of the second trust deed. Your attorney will prepare and record the request for notice of default and sale.

- Your attorney can contact the first trust deed holder and arrange for you to take over the first trust deed. Then you could consider foreclosing on your second trust deed.

- You cannot get a deficiency judgment against the buyer if the sale does not bring enough to pay off your trust deed because a deficiency judgment cannot be made on a purchase money trust deed. A purchase money trust deed is one given to the seller to secure payment of the balance of the purchase price of real property, or, under a trust deed on a dwelling for not more than four families, given to a lender to secure repayment of a loan which was in fact used to pay all or part of the purchase price of such dwelling occupied entirely, or in part, by the purchaser.

Paust is a practicing attorney in Mammoth Lakes.

Dr. Craig Schrager, who moved to Mammoth only six weeks ago, knows how to make a splash in a new community.

Dr. Schrager, a dentist from Santa Monica who took over Dr. Woody Bobb's practice, knew that the way to instant stardom in Mammoth was to become a winner of the Trivia Contest.

Of course, Dr. Schrager knew the contest was too difficult for one man to handle. He enlisted the aid of two employees and some lucky guesses to become our trivia winner of a free lunch at the Island Cafe.

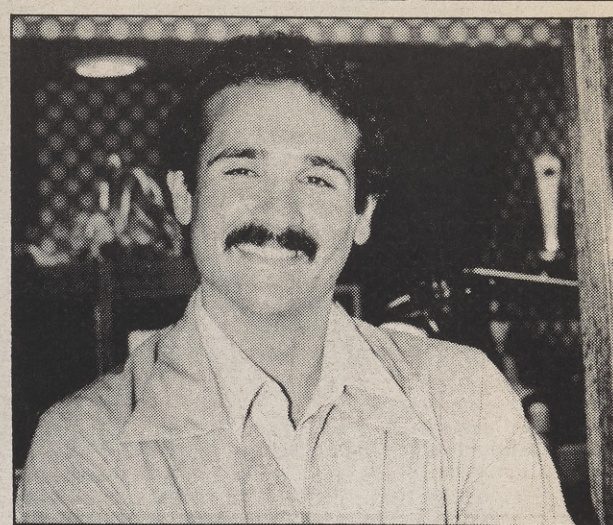

For the question: "How many NBA championships have the Boston Celtics won?" Dr. Schrager came up with the most novel approach we have ever seen in the trivia's history. His first guess was 11 years, but when told that was wrong, Dr. Craig did something that will go down in the "Trivia Hall of Fame."

Using logical deduction, Dr. Craig multiplied the expected weight of secretary Debbie Didisse's baby by two. Since the baby will probably weigh 7 pounds, Dr. Schrager said the Celtics won 14 NBA championships.

You figure that one out, but he was correct.

Dr. Schrager then had the whole office in the act, including another employee, Vicki Donnelly. Together, they figured out that Celtics' coach K.C. Jones attended the University of San Francisco and that Larry Bird went to Indiana State University in Terre Haute, Indiana.

Now, for this week's questions:

- Who is the father of ("Somebody's Watching Me") Rockwell?
- What is the real name of Culture Club's Boy George?
- How many top-10 hits are on Michael Jackson's "Thriller?"
- Who was the first Beatle to die?

We would like to take this opportunity to thank Dee and Gary over at the Island Cafe for continuing to sponsor the prize for the Trivia Contest. The first person to correctly answer all the questions this week will win a $5 chit for the Island Cafe.

Trivia contestants can call The Review or drop by the office with the answers. Our phone number is 934-8544. Please, only one guess per question per phone call or visit.

'Miracles' Course Begins Friday

"Miracles are natural. When they do not occur, something has gone wrong," is a quote from A Course in Miracles.

A workshop on the course will be given in Mammoth at the Snowcreek Athletic Club, beginning Friday, June 15, at 4:30 to 7:30 p.m. The second session will be the same hours Saturday, June 16, and the final session will be Sunday from 9 a.m. to noon. Attendance at one, two or all three sessions is possible.

Cherie Schenk from Los Angeles, who has been "A Course in Miracles" moderator for four years and is a student of Kenneth Wapnick, will present a clear, concise overview of the course. For more information, call 934-8841.

RECORD REVIEW

Born in the U.S.A.

by Bruce Springsteen

"The Boss" is back. Pause to hyperventilate, then continue. Born in the U.S.A. is Springsteen's latest album, and for the most part, it contains no surprises. Here are songs about hard work, hard driving, hard luck, and love furtively stolen from meaningless lives. Most of the songs are written to Springsteen's charging rock 'n' roll formula—perhaps too many, because by the end of the album they seem to run together (in, dare I say, Springsteen overkill?). The best music comes when he breaks formula as on the title cut, where glockenspiel and piano replace guitar and bass, and "Cover Me," and "Dancing in the Dark" when he experiments with a newer sound. Are there any bad cuts? Come on, this is Springsteen! Other stand-outs are "Darlington County" and "Downbound Train."
